OLD FASHIONED may be the word for the vehicle and the dresses, but Palm Desert residents report that the "Roaring Twenties" party Saturday night is the latest—and greatest yet. Three flapper girls, Della McNeilly, Kay Combs and Junene Johnson, give prospective diners and dancers the come-on to the big party which starts at 6:30 on the parking lot behind the chamber office.

Stars Join Flappers for Beautification Promotion

PALM DESERT — One of the top parties of the year is in prospect Saturday with the second annual "Roaring Twenties" shindig here to benefit this community's beautification program.

A line-up of film stars including Allan Jones and Alice Faye, local residents, and orchestra leader Eddie Howard, will appear at the event which begins with a chuckwagon barbecue at 6:30 p.m. It Dancers will be able to trip the light fantastic to the music of Rob Roy and his Dixieland combo, along with the honky-tonk piano of Louise McGuire and Henry Escher, and the guitar playing of Ernie Bolton.

Chairman of the sponsor badge sale, Dr. F. X. McDonald reports that there are still plenty of badges left for those who wish to be official "sponsors" of Palm Desert beautification. For the $10 fee, the entire evening's entertainment, dancing and dinner is offered.

Proceeds from the affair will be used in the chamber of commerce beautification program. Last year's $3,600 netted from the first party was used for the installation of palms, pines, flowers and gaslights on the south frontage street here.

Serving for the chuckwagon dinner is Young's catering service while liquid refreshments at "Bubble's Place" will be handled by the Riviera Hotel.

John Paul Arnold, dining room captain at the Racquet Club, suffered a broken neck when a car skidded out of control and rolled over in Palm Springs last night.

Police said Arnold was a passenger in a car driven by Merle H. Brock, 49, of 417 West Arenas Road, Palm Springs, when the accident occurred.

Brock apparently escaped injury, but his wife, Barbara Ann, 52, was treated at Desert Hospital for neck injuries, cuts and bruises, officers reported.

Brock told officers he was west-bound on Ramon Road about 10 p.m. when another car pulled from a side street. Police said the Brock car skidded into the intersection at Calle Abanra, rolled completely over and came to rest facing east.

Hospital officials reported Arnold "in good condition" this morning.

A brief earthquake awakened many residents in Palm Springs about 1 a.m. today, but no damage was reported to police.

United Press International said the tremor was felt in Redlands, Riverside, Los Angeles, Hollywood, Santa Monica and Downey.

Another Riverside federal agent, Pat Curran, recently placed a lien on equipment of Leo Wiswell, lathing contractor, on a similar charge. Other actions have also been taken against several Indian firms.

Actions will be taken shortly against local contractors.

The assets seized yesterday from Gallarini will be auctioned off by the government on May 14, Davis said. He added that a legal advertisement in the Desert Sun next Wednesday would list the items up for sale, which include construction equipment, trucks, cement mixers and tons of rocks.

According to James Davis, revenue officer of the department's Riverside office, the company had failed to pay any withholding taxes for 1961. He said the action against Gallarini is part of a general crackdown, and several other

Steel Fix Case Start On May 10

Stocks Plunge To Year's Low

NEW YORK (UPI) — Four of the nation's largest steel producers will enter pleas May 10 on government charges they fixed prices and rigged bids and sales on federal contracts, U. S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau announced today.

Charges of price-fixing and bid-rigging dating back to 1948 were returned Thursday by a federal grand jury which indicted U.S. Steel and two smaller companies. Five individual executives and a trade association also were named in the indictment.

All were accused of illegally fixing prices in the sale of forged steel to the Army, Navy, electrical firms and other companies.

The action sent an unsteady stock market to its lowest level in a year. It came just two weeks after U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and other major producers were forced to rescind an announced $6-a-ton price increase because of intense pressure from the Kennedy administration and the refusal of some steel companies to increase their prices.

Such indictments are usually announced in Washington. It was thought Thursday's was issued here to remove doubt that the administration wanted revenge on the steel industry for its unsuccessful bid to raise prices.

In addition to the nation's two biggest steel companies, the indictment named Midvale-Heppens-Co., and Erie Forge. Conviction on the charge could carry a $50,000 fine.

A PERFECT LANDING climaxed an emergency call to Palm Springs police and firemen yesterday as the chartered DC-3 above carrying 28 passengers came in on one engine at Municipal Airport. Pilot L. J. Edwards radioed for aid after one of his engines had cut out over the desert and he was unable to complete a flight from Amarillo, Tex., to Los Angeles. Aboard was a group bound for a Baptist convention. They completed the trip by bus. (P.S. NewsPhoto)

Desert Highway Plans Revealed

There will be no Highway 111 freeway cutting through Palm Springs and the resort area for at least eight years but before the end of that period the present Highway 111 from Palm Springs to Indio will be improved to a standard expected to be adequate for a decade.

That was the indication Thursday in the announcement by California highway engineers at Sacramento that $140 million will be spent on Riverside county highways between 1963 and 1971.

Into Palm Springs Included in the eight-year program is further improvement of Highway 60, the route to the county seat from Palm Springs and Desert Empire communities.

This includes plans for a freeway from the Palm Springs junction northwest of the city to the city limits. This is expected within four or five years and will eliminate the remaining two-lane stretch between Whitewater Point and West Palm Springs which is expected to become a bottleneck when the Tramway is completed.

To Improve Highway 60 West of Beaumont the highway to the county seat from the desert area, will be widened to eight lanes all of the way into Riverside.

Interstate 10, north of Palm Springs along the alignment of U.S. Highways 60-70-99 will be completed in the eight-year period with approximately $70 million of the money allocated to the county to be spent on this project.

Eight-Lane Highway It will become an eight-lane highway throughout its length in the county from Calimesa to the Colorado River. Interstate 10 will receive $13 million for improvement from Calimesa to Thousand Palms north of the city. The freeway is already completed from Thousand Palms to Indio.

The Riverside Freeway, used by most desert residents en route to south coast beaches and San Diego, will be put on a freeway standard through Santa Ana Canyon.

A study for possible cost-cutback was ordered, Lamb said today, because "we need so much in buildings and have just so much money to work with. We'll have to modify our thinking."

He emphasized that the board had been warned by Williams that the estimate was "conservative," explaining that "we might have got much better bids four or five months ago." Lamb added that he considered the Heathman bid "a good bid."

Architect Williams told the board last night that one major reason for the difference between estimate and bid cost was that the building needs submitted by administrators Dr. Dwight Twist and Jack Miles had grown from 9,900 square feet of floor space to 12,078 square feet of enclosed space in 1962. The 12,078 square feet figure was used in the final cost estimate the board accepted Jan. 23 and approved in plans for bidding March 22. Williams also cited wage increases of 28 percent in the three-year period.

The board indicated willingness to drop some paving, skylights, and a sun screen from the design, but asked for another $46,000 reduction.

Second Bomb Is Exploded Near Pacific Island

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States detonated an air-borne nuclear device over the mid-Pacific today for the second time in 48 hours.

There was speculation the present shots were being used to test the nuclear punch of missile warheads with the aim of packing more power into a smaller space.

As in the Wednesday test, the device exploded today was dropped by an airplane and was of intermediate power. British-controlled Christmas Island again was the test site.

A spokesman for the Atomic Energy Commission said the device had an explosive power of less than one million tons of TNT (one megaton) but more than 20,000 tons (20 kilotons). This was the same description given of Wednesday's blast.

The second test of the current U.S. series came as antibomb demonstrations were conducted by leftist Japanese students before the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo. Communist and pacifist bomb groups staged milder protests in other countries.

Most Reaction Mild Reaction from most neutral nations was mild in tone and the Free World Allies in Europe strongly backed the U.S. decision to resume atmospheric testing.

The shot today was the 187th nuclear device exploded by the United States, with 64 of them detonated in the Pacific.

The test series, dubbed "Operation Dominic," is being carried out by a huge Navy task force under the joint direction of the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission.

The tests are expected to continue for two to three months with between 24 and 36 explosions anticipated either at Christmas Island or Johnston Island, the U.S. Pacific testing site.

Security Need President Kennedy's decision to resume above ground testing was defended today by Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield. The Montanan said Kennedy's hand had been forced by the previous unannounced tests of the Soviet Union and the need for national security.

An AEC announcement said: "A nuclear test detonation took place at about 8 a.m. PST today in the vicinity of Christmas Island. The detonation was in the intermediate yield range. The device was dropped from an airplane. The test was part of Operation Dominic now underway in the Pacific."

There's still time to get in on the bargain safety seat belt program to be staged tomorrow and Sunday by the Palm Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

Charles Kasmer, JayCee President, said plenty of belts will be available but those without advance reservations will have to wait their turn for installation at the safety belt clinic being staged on the shopping center parking lot at McCallum and Farrell Drive.

JayCee members will supply and install the belts at $6.24 each, about half the usual rate, Kasmer said. Installation crews will be on hand from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days near the Shopping Basket Market. The belts are recommended by the National Safety Council.

Federal Agents Crack on Taxes

All assets of Gallarini, Inc., a masonry contracting company were seized yesterday as agents of the Internal Revenue department started a crack-down for non-payment of taxes.

The company, which has offices at 600 Eugene Street in Palm Springs, has also had action taken against it recently by the state of California.

According to James Davis, revenue officer of the department's Riverside office, the company had failed to pay any withholding taxes for 1961. He said the action against Gallarini is part of a general crackdown, and several other actions will be taken shortly against local contractors.

The assets seized yesterday from Gallarini will be auctioned off by the government on May 14, Davis said. He added that a legal advertisement in the Desert Sun next Wednesday would list the items up for sale, which include construction equipment, trucks, cement mixers and tons of rocks.

Tram Traffic Congestion Expected

A major traffic problem at the intersection of Palm Canyon Drive-Highway 111 and Tramway Road-San Rafael will be created by the opening and operation of the Palm Springs Tramway, the Palm Springs Traffic Commission decided at its meeting this morning.

A resolution was directed to the Palm Springs City Council through the city manager asking that immediate attention be given to the adoption of and construction on an intersection plan submitted by Public Works Director Tom Essen to meet that problem by Tramway opening May, 1963.

Essen was also asked at the meeting to request the help of the State Highway Department in furthering the plan.

Essen cited Tramway Authority figures to project a traffic flow at the intersection of 70,000 cars in a peak month, 2,500 on a peak day. These, he said, were minimum projections by the Tramway Authority. They would create Palm Springs' greatest traffic congestion "not planned for now, he warned.

Brief, Mild Protests To U.S. Bomb Testing

United Press International Communist and pacifist bomb groups around the world staged brief and generally mild protest demonstrations today against the renewal of American nuclear testing in the Pacific.

But, as the United States went ahead with plans to set off the second blast in its current series of atmospheric nuclear explosions, the general reaction appeared to be one of concern, rather than bitter condemnation as had been anticipated.

The official Communist party newspaper Pravda told its readers in Moscow that there were protests from all over the world against the new U.S. tests. But the angry words came mostly from Communist officials. Mild disapproval from most neutral nations and staunch backing from Western Allies were the other general reactions around the world.

Russians May Stay

At Geneva, a Western diplomatic source said the Russians apparently had decided to stay on at the 17-nation Disarmament Conference despite their previous threats to walk out if the U.S. resumed nuclear blasts.

Observers said the Russians apparently felt they had more to lose than to gain if they walked out, since the eight neutral nations at the conference made it clear they intended to stay.

The only violence came in Japan, where a group of the most extreme left-wing Zengakuren Student Federation marched on the U.S. Embassy in Tokyo.

An estimated 2,000 of the students—who are so radical that the Communists expelled the organization several years ago—took part in the demonstration.

Some students pelted the embassy compound walls with stones and then scuffled with Japanese police guarding the building.

Attempt Sitdown Protest

Some of them staged a sitdown when their attempt to enter the compound was halted. But police broke that up swiftly by picking up a number of them bodily and carrying them away. The rest went home.

Earlier, light planes flew over Tokyo dropping leaflets—printed handbills urging citizens to march on the U.S. Embassy. Few showed up.

In New York, an estimated 3,000 persons quietly picketed outside the United Nations Headquarters Thursday. The demonstration lasted about two hours under the sponsorship of "The Women Strike for Peace," an American ban-the-bomb group.

In London, a handful of diehard ban-the-bomb demonstrators maintained a vigil outside the U.S. Embassy today. They had stayed through the night, the remnants of about 2,000 persons gathered Thursday night by the Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament Movement.

Honor Goes To Three P.S. Seniors

Three outstanding Palm Springs High School Seniors are finalists in the National Merit Scholarship program, Dr. Sellery, principal of Palm Springs High School, has announced.

Those to reach the last hurdle successfully were: Phil Harnage, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Harnage of B-Bar-H Ranch, Desert Hot Springs; Jim Laukus, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Laukus, 103 Mabrey Road, Palm Springs; and Steve Nichols, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Culver Nichols of 1120 Paseo El Mirador, Palm Springs.

According to the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, about 97 percent of the semifinalists repeat their high scores in the second test. After they submit the necessary forms they thereby become finalists. Each finalist is awarded a certificate of merit and each is qualified for a Merit Scholarship.

Some students offered Merit Scholarships accept other scholarship offers which preclude their accepting Merit monetary assistance, or plan to enter one of the service academies or a specialized type of training not covered by the Merit Program. At the request of high schools, NMSC designates such students as Honorary Merit Scholars, in order to honor the students for their high achievement.

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation is an independent, non-profit corporation located in Evanston, Ill. It was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York.

Vice President's Plane Skidded

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — A hydraulic failure was blamed today for causing a jet plane carrying Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and his wife to skid from a runway and settle with one wheel in the mud alongside the strip.

Neither the vice president nor his wife, Lady Bird, were hurt. They left the plane, an Air Force T-39 Sabreliner, and a few minutes later boarded a commercial airliner for Washington.

Johnson and his wife were returning to Washington from their ranch at Johnson City, Tex., where they had entertained America's seven astronauts Wednesday.

Four Fish: from Where Came; to Where They Go

Palm Springs police had a minor mystery on their hands today following a call to Vista Chino and Sunrise Way.

A blotter notation states that officers found the street completely empty after responding to a report that there were four dead fish on the pavement about 100 feet west of the intersection.

However, Chief Gus Kettmann said he understood there were plenty of live fish in the lake on the Municipal Golf Course and he hopes that the kids from 6 to 60 have better luck in the fishing derby this afternoon than his officers had on Vista Chino.

GOP Candidates Are Swinging

The wraps were taken off Thursday in the scramble for the Republican Congressional nomination in the 38th (Riverside-Imperial County) district and the candidates started swinging from the ground.

Jack Tenney, former legislator from Los Angeles County and now a resident of Banning, started it when he let go with a broadside against his two rivals in the race—Leonard Campbell of Beaumont and Pat Martin of Riverside.

Charges Inexperience

Tenney, 18 years at Sacramento, charged neither of his two rivals had the legislative experience necessary to serve in the Congress and questioned their conservatism in the fight to halt the trend toward socialism.

First to reply and with equal vigor, was Pat Martin.

Martin declared that Tenney is a "sweet-talking politician who spews venom."

"Mr. Tenney would have you believe that the issues are all black and white, but it is not that way," Martin said.

At Riverside Meeting

The three-sided verbal bombardment came at a meeting of the Riverside Chapter of Pro-America and had the audience in an uproar.

After Tenney unleashed his blast, Martin arose swinging verbal punches and Campbell followed.

"It's one thing to talk about experience and another to talk about ability," Campbell said.

Martin declared he was the only candidate who has taken a clear, long calm in the campaign which will be climaxed at the June 5 rect primary.

The three-sided debate broke a

Ike Pep Talks to Area Republican

PALM DESERT — A pep talk from former President Eisenhower and brief speeches by his former budget director, Maurice Stans, and Chad McClellan highlighted a "luncheon for Nixon" at the Eldorado Country Club here yesterday. The honoree, already on the campaign trail, was unable to be present.

Although he refused to take sides in the Republican primaries, Ike exhorted the party faithful to get to work and "sweep the state" in the November election.

"When I return in January I'm confident you'll have the kind of people you deserve running the state under our system of government," he said in his final public appearance before leaving this weekend for his Gettysburg, Pa., home.

"There is no reason to abandon the standards of the Republican party which have stood for over 100 years. Bring the arguments out in the open, but for goodness sakes, let us not forget our principles. We're for the individual instead of big government."

He cited the importance of morale, saying "as much as we need money and works, the greatest thing we need is heart and spirit."

Clad in casual wear which gave the impression he just got off the links, the former president left the group after his short talk and turned things over to the master of ceremonies, Supervisor Norman Davis.

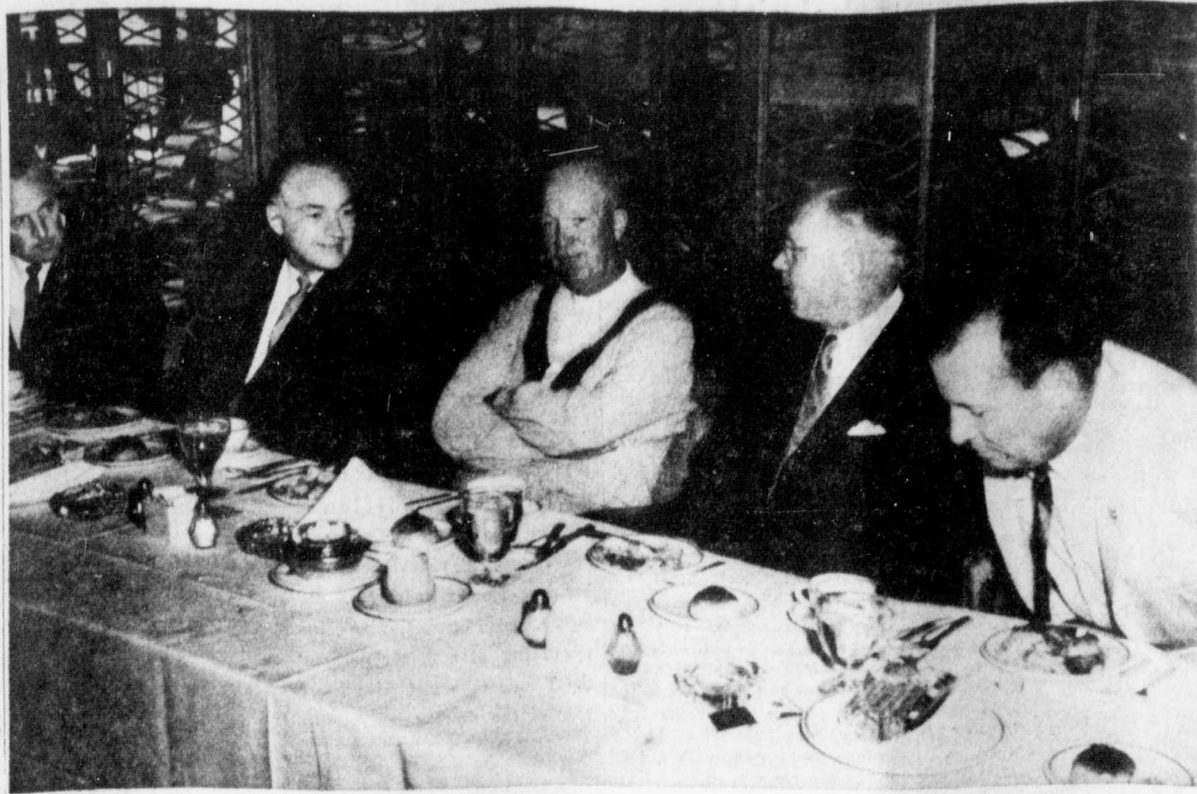

The event was a fund drive for Nixon's gubernatorial campaign which Stans said would cost half a million dollars "just for the primary."

Both Stans and McClellan boosted the former vice president for the governor's chair before nearly 150 at the luncheon, which included Republicans from all over the county. Sheriff Joe Rice was present and Ed McCoubrey and Francis Crocker from Palm Springs, Oscar Berg from Beaumont, Mrs. George Berkey of Rancho Mirage, Jeff Devine of San Jacinto, Tom Cox of Hemet were among those in attendance.

Stans said that the campaign drive for Nixon would begin in earnest about May 5.

"The Republican party can't afford to lose Nixon this year," Stans said. "The future of the GOP in the state and the nation is at stake." He said it was more important for the party than for Nixon that the former vice president win the governor's race.

Weed Killer

NEW YORK (UPI) — The weed killer in your future might be buggy.

The experimental use of insects against weeds began when the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the University of California cooperated to import a bug enemy of the weed called St. John's Wort. Imported beetles already have helped to clear more than half a million weed-infested acres in California and the Northwest.

All Brides Are Beautiful But Beauty Experts Help

NEW YORK (UPI) — Tradition holds that all brides are beautiful, but the modern maid also looks for added assurance from the cosmetics and hairstyle experts.

They suggest, for instance, that you do not change your hair-style and makeup for the wedding. Have your hair cut and set within the framework of your own favorite style. And by all means, avoid dramatic effects in makeup and extreme colors.

In question and answer form, the Charles of the Ritz salons offer these added tips for good grooming on Big Day.

Question: How far ahead of the wedding should I schedule my permanent wave? Answer: Several weeks ahead, because after several shampoos and settings, the permanent will handle much easier during the rush of wedding preparations.

Question: My skin blushes easily, whenever I become excited. How can I disguise high color? Answer: Wear a soft, beige-toned foundation and matching face powder with soft green undertones, rather than rosy or pink tints. Then, you're safe in adding a touch of pale rouge to your cheekbones.

Question: My skin looks wan and pale in my white wedding dress. How can I add color? Answer: Wear a darker foundation and powder with rosy, lavender undertones. Be sure to wear a rose-colored rouge and lipstick that holds its color under the fading, soft lights of the church.

Question: Since I won't have time to retouch my makeup between the wedding and the reception, how can I keep it looking fresh? Answer: Use a technique called "blotting" — that is, blotting the color with tissue to set it after each application of foundation, powder, eye makeup and lipstick. Face powder still is a good way of "locking in" makeup. After applying foundation and blotting it with tissue, the face then is "floured" with a dusting of loose powder. Let the powder set for a few minutes before the excess is brushed away.

Question: Should I wear eye makeup? Answer: Yes, but rather than adding high color, use a silver shadow which gives a luminous sheen to the eyelids. In applying mascara, brush the tips of the eyelashes only, to prevent the lashes matting. Another trick is to use mascara instead of an eye brow pencil to darken the eyebrows. Use the pencil only to extend the browline or fill in sparse brows.

Visitors Are Dinner Guests

A dinner threesome at Don the Beachcomber the other evening were Evelyn Delmar Nelson and her friends Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Dressell of Seaford, Long Island, who spent a few days here at the Palm Springs Hotel. Dressell is a prominent attorney in Seaford.

Mrs. Nelson held an informal open house for them during their stay here, inviting friends to drop in at her home on Calle Santa Rosa to meet the visitors.

To keep a toddler from falling in new slippery shoes, apply a piece of adhesive tape both across and down the length of the sole.

Host Group at Club Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Gale Livingston entertained their guests at cocktails at their Via Vadera residence, before taking the group on to the Racquet Club for dinner and dancing.

With them were Messrs. and Mmes. Paul Schmitt of Minneapolis and Palm Desert, Russell Chase, Curtis Griffin, Willard Parker, Joseph Shapiro, Eugene Mance, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Squires, Mrs. Louise Nicoletti, Mrs. B. J. Sanchez, Allen Salvesen, Fred Williams and Ray Lowell.

Tonight is the big luau out at the Ranch Club, with a gaily-garbed crowd feasting on polynesian food, imbibing exotic drinks and watching the hula girls and dancing Freddie Letuli as he does his fire and sword dances. Fruits and flowers and the romantic music of the Islands always make these luau colorful.

Tonight at the Riviera's Mediterranean Room, the Press Club and its affiliate and associate members, civic, officials and friends will be gathering for the 1962 Awards Dinner, which honors the "Tramway Fathers" Francis Crocker and Earl Coffman, and Palm Springs Honorary Mayor Bob Hope. Also honored will be Mrs. Elsinore Machris, honorary founder-member of the club, who started the club's building fund with a gift of $25,000.

There will be entertainment with Phil Regan as emcee, and this will include songs by that popular Palm Springs High School group The Villagers, and a Twist Contest being arranged by Roy Randolph.

The dinner is both a Sixth Anniversary celebration for Desert Press Club and a benefit (at $12.50 per plate) for the journalism scholarship, which goes each year to a Palm Springs High School student. It is open to the public and tickets may be obtained at the door.

For convenient under-the-sink products storage, cover a lazy Susan with washable adhesive plastic paper. Then place supplies on its shelves. A touch of the finger, and the revolving shelf brings a needed item to hand without the usual search.

Otu at Thunderbird the women golfers held their last party day for the season, with some 120 there and golfers including guests from as far away as Los Angeles.

This doesn't mean golfing ends, for now comes the invitations, which Louise Nicoletti started last year, and which continues this year with different hostesses giving the luncheons. Louise herself, will hostess the one on May 8, and Emma Gale has invitations out for the final one, the Emma Gale Invitational on May 15. After that summer sets in.

Honoring their houseguests from San Marino Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson, the Kenneth Kirks hosted another in their series of dinner parties.

Guests at the dinner dance, which was held at the Racquet Club included: Messrs. and Mmes. William Reichel, Joseph Hale, Eddie LeBaron, S. P. Manasse, Clarence Brown, Ralph Smith, Leo Owens, O. E. L. Graves, John McClure, Joseph Froggatt.

Also in the party were a group of Angelenos, the Monte Herberts, Francis Wheelans, Russell Garners and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Reynolds.

In the tradition of the days of the caballeros is the Rancheros Visitadores Ride which starts May 5 from the old mission at Santa Barbara. The riders will cover about 125 miles of trail, stopping at night at the big ranchos and ending the ride at the Santa Ynez Mission.

It follows the pattern of the early days, when after the spring crops were planted, the caballeros would ride from one land grant to the next, holding fiestas.

Rancheros, which was organized back in 1930 is limited to 500 members and 50 guests and there is always a Palm Springs group in the ride.

This year local riders will include Bill Grant, Dick Atterbury, Frank Bogert, Johnny Boyle, Trav Rogers, Earl Henderson, Ray Ryan (if he gets home from Jamaica in time), Bud Furer, Ray Corliss, G. W. Abernathy, and Ed McCoubrey.

The anniversary cake arrived sensationally when Mr. and Mrs. Henry Getz celebrated their sixth wedding anniversary at Fire-cliff Lodge. The petite little hostess Rutie (she's a size six) brought in the cake, accompanied by Pat the bartender, playing his unbelievable "whatchamacallit" that honks like a horn, shrieks like a siren, flew a flag and winds up with a raucous quack, quack. It's enough to scare anyone married less than 25 years.

The Big Wig Luncheon at Howard Manor netted over $1,300 for Community Chest, with enough money designated from this amount to cover Girl Scout and Camp Fire Girls needs for the quarter and the remainder earmarked for Welfare & Friendly Aid.

Community Chest is still short and the nicest thing that could happen would be a flood of dollar bills mailed in to "Community Chest, P. O. Box 1029." Why not send yours in right away?

A DINNER PARTY at the Racquet Club, hosted by the Kenneth Kirks honored their San Marino friends Mr. and Mrs. Edward Johnson and was one of a series of parties the

DAR Chapter To Install at Next Meeting

Cahuilla Chapter DAR will install new officers, when it meets at the home of Mrs. Daniel H. McCauley, 1580 Mesquite, on Thursday, May 3, at 12:30 p.m. Co-hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Ray Rodney Jones and Mrs. James E. Whigham, who will serve a desert luncheon.

Mrs. Fred A. Nitchy, Regent, will conduct the business meeting, and will ask for reports from committee chairmen. The new Regent will name her committee chairmen and will plan for the meeting places for the coming year.

Springtime and Election Mark Palm Desert Club's Meeting

Setting a spring mood for the Palm Desert Woman's Club's April luncheon meeting were miniature, gaily-decorated straw bonnets that lined the tables between bouquets of multi-colored snapdragons and stock. Heightening the mood, Mrs. Roy McCall, club president opened with a spritely poem on spring.

Mrs. Doane Elliott, club historian, gave a resume of the club's accomplishments this past year and a review of its history since its founding in 1949, when it started out as the Desert Guild, with 22 members, up to now when it has a membership of 300.

The nominating committee, Mmes. H. C. Carpenter, Robert L. Coates and J. F. Price, presented the slate of officers, which was elected unanimously.

The new president is Mrs. Philip McClay, and other officers are as follows: Mrs. C. M. Kincaide Jr., 1st vice president; Mrs. John Vale, 2nd vice president; Mrs.

T.T. Wants To Know of Vacations

Hi again, Boys and Girls! By the looks of your smiling and sun-tanned faces, T. T. knows you had a fine holiday. He can tell by those extra happy and satisfied faces lots of you have, that you remembered to help your moms and others.

It seems the Easter Bunny was very generous, too.

Now as you're popping those last candy eggs into your mouth and chewing away from that sweet tooth, why not get out your pencils and draw a picture, tell T. T. and his friends what you did during Easter week, send a picture you took, draw a cartoon from a joke you hear . . . .

Remember, please mail to Tortoise Tim's Times, The Desert Sun, Box 190, Palm Springs, or politely ask your teacher to send them directly to T. T.

Thank you,
T. T.

Doopy Goes to the Barber
By Jay Frank (11)
Katherine Finchy School

Characters: Doopy, Wife, Waiter, Barber

There lived in London a man whom everybody called Doopy because he had never shaved in his life. Despite his six foot beard, everybody loved him, and he loved his beard. The story starts early in the morning.

Doopy: Good morning, Wife, how are you?

Wife: Fine, and you?

Doopy: Well, right now you're stepping on my beard and . . .

ow . . .

Wife: I'm sorry, but when are you going to cut off that thing?

Doopy: Never mind. Right now I'll be off to work and I'll eat something on the way.

Waiter: I say, Droop, old bean, what'll you 'ave today?

Doopy: I think I'll have hot-cakes with lots of syrup.

Waiter: Here you are, old boy.

Doopy: Thank you. I can't wait to get started. Hey, waiter, please help me get my beard out of this syrup!

Waiter: Gee, Droopy, when are you going to cut off that dag-blasted beard?

Doopy: Do you really think I should.

Waiter: Yes.

Doopy: All right, I'll do it.

Barber: Well, Droopy, what are you doing here? Want some hair tonic to make your beard longer?

Doopy: Nope, I'm cutting it off.

Barber: You mean it?

Doopy: Yes

Barber: All right, here goes the first manmade mink stole!

Doopy: Haw, ha, ha, ho, ho, hee, hee, ha!

Barber: What's the matter?

Doopy: It tickles.

That night Droopy came home to his wife with two presents: no beard and a six foot mink stole.

The Erector Set
By Dennis Alexander (9)
Cahuilla School

Jim's birthday was in a week and all he wanted was an erector set, but his mother would not buy him one. It cost too much money. One day Jim went to the fair and entered a contest. It was to make a model of a ride you liked the most. A week went by and when Jim woke up he ran to the kitchen and there was his birthday cake on the table. When he sat down his mother and father sang "Happy Birthday" and Jim blew out the candles. Then Jim picked up a present. It was very heavy so he opened the box and there was the erector set Jim had so much fun with the merry-go-round that he decided to make that. He did and he won the contest.

Here's What We're Crazier Than

By PEYTON CANARY

A north-migrating loon flew south after a heavy touch of education in Palm Springs.

The raucous-voiced fisher from the chill waters of upper Canada or arctic Alaska appeared to be soloing homeward when he smashed into the edge of Cielo Vista school here. The lone loon, lost on land, lay berating the fates as school children peered at him. The peering was done at a respectful distance, after Principal Warren Danielson took a quick look at the loon's spear-like bill.

Somewhat Sour

"This one has a somewhat sour disposition," Palm Springs Humane Officer Travis Lund observed, as the big bird petulantly probed a concrete block wall.

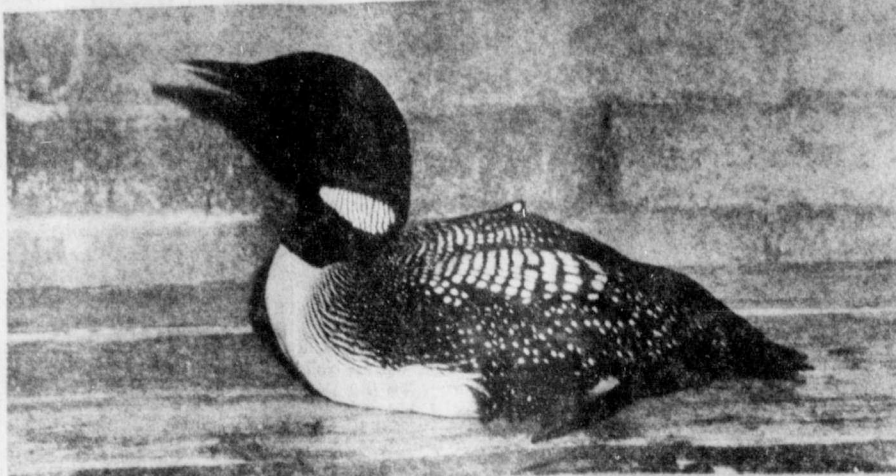

The loon replied with a rising cry which started somewhere in outer space and echoed across the city shelter site like a malevolent fog horn.

"We get a lot of migrating birds who are forced down when they attempt to fly over the desert in the daytime," Lund said. He explained that reflected heat rises above the birds' flying altitude, exhausting them.

No Room

Dr. Ernest Tinkham, desert scientist whose Indio home is well stocked with flora and fauna, looked over the big bird when Mrs. Judith Basehore, Cathedral City teacher, took it to him.

"He said he didn't have room for a bird that size — it needs a lot of water and cool air," Mrs. Basehore reported.

Scientist and teacher drove the big bird to the All-American Canal.

Off to Sea

With a joyous whoop the loon swooshed into the water, and shook off the desert dust with a refreshing quarter-mile underwater dip. As dusk deepened across the sandy hills, the big bird rounded a bend in the concrete waterway, and shot to the surface.

With more loon cries in the stilling day, the heavy bird beat a powerful rhythm against the cool water, and slowly rose for an amphibious take off.

"We couldn't see him too well by then, but he appeared to be heading south to the Salton Sea," Mrs. Basehore reported.

Bid Opening on Sales of Indian Land Announced

RIVERSIDE (UPI)—The amounts of bids on 57 tracts of land in Riverside and San Diego Counties ranging from 5 to 40 acres will be disclosed next week by the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Bids for land including parcels in Pala, Rincon and La Jolla Indian Reservations of San Diego County were opened Wednesday. Much of the land is in the Torres-Martinez Indian Reservation and is being disposed of by Indian owners.

State officials were checking the bids before announcing the amounts.

Major Case School at Spa P.D.

A "major case school" is being conducted this week for the Palm Springs Police department by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, according to a report from Chief A. G. (Gus) Kettmann.

The week-long course covers such areas as burglary investigation, crime scene investigation and practical field work. It is being conducted by special agent Dick Buxton of the Los Angeles FBI office.

All male personnel of the local force are attending the hour-long sessions, which are offered both in the morning and in the afternoon. Two deputies from the Riverside County Sheriff's department are also attending the class.

OIL HEAT

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 10 million American homes used central oil heating during 1961. Oil Facts reports.

A Matter of Mind

By Dr. Arthur Janov

One of the popular misconceptions of people entering psychotherapy is that the therapist is going to help them discover the "real you". Somehow people have had the notion that what lurks down deep in the unconscious is real and the front that they've spent years developing is only frosting on the cake. Of course, this facade we have is just as real as any other part of us. It is simply that there are many parts to people. Even though someone may be nice to everyone while harboring angry feelings, guilt and what have you, doesn't alter the fact that they are consistently nice to people.

The confusion is usually a result of the idea that when one discovers a true motivation for doing something, he has discovered the real person. Psychotherapy deals with the discovery of factors that motivate us in addition to the ones we already know about. The conscious reasons why we do something are just as real as the unconscious. The reason why these unconscious factors are important is that they often drive us to do something repeatedly over which we have no control. Psychotherapy is the process of expanding consciousness — of making these unconscious factors conscious so that we may know them and deal with them.

The difference between "conscious" counseling approach to a person and a deep "unconscious" approach can be highlighted by the following examples: —One could counsel, "If you'd bathe more often you would be more dateable". But (The reason you need a strong body odor is to make sure you exist) If you can smell yourself you're more sure that you are there. —"You're increasing promiscuity can only make you a dissolute, immoral person". (The reason you need constant physical contact is because having never been loved by your parents you developed the idea that you weren't lovable or attractive — you have to prove that you are by constant physical contact.)

"If only you'd stop eating you could be so much more attractive". (The reason you need to stay heavy is you've despaired at ever being successful at anything. If you operate at the 'failure level' you don't have to fail. Your overweight is a means to keep yourself from having to carry on continuing relationships to men. "If only you could come on time to work, your work record would improve". (You have to be late as a devious means to rebel against the limits set for you by authority... 'late' means no one can tell me what to do or when to do it.")

"Why don't you try to be more sociable, it would certainly gain you more friends." (If you hang back and fade into the woodwork, "If only you could come on time to work, your work record would improve". (You have to be late as a devious means to rebel against the limits set for you by authority... 'late' means no one can tell me what to do or when to do it.")

"Why don't you try to be more sociable, it would certainly gain you more friends." ## ALUMINUM IN CARS

NEW YORK (UPI)—American autos in 1962 will use about 216,000 tons of aluminum, assuming production of 6.5 million cars, according to an industry source.

COMMENDATION for two retired Palm Springs employees of the Bureau of Indian Affairs was presented by Leonard Hill, right, director of the Sacramento regional office. Honored with commendations signed by Department of Interior Secretary Stuart Udall, plus inscribed medals and lapel pins were Gordon M. Snedeker, second from right, a 27-year veteran, and Walter Brune, who served 11 years. Snedeker had served with the Atomic Energy Commission and General Services Administration before joining the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Brune, an industrial specialist, served with production programming in Okinawa and Japan before joining the bureau. Ray Jackson, left, Palm Springs office chief, assisted in the commendation ceremonies. (Desert Sun Photo)

Desert Sun Carrier Has Straight A Grade

An A average in school is one thing that William Eickelmann, our Newspaper Boy of the Week can brag about.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Eickelmann of 73979 Avenue 44 in Palm Desert. His father is in the maintenance field.

This eighth grader attends Our Lady of Perpetual Help School in Indio, and receives straight A's. He is not a bookworm, though. He participates in football, baseball and basketball. He also collects model cars.

William has been delivering newspapers for one year and a half, receiving no help from friends or relatives. His route has helped him financially and to meet the public. Some of his money is used for expenses, the remainder being placed in a savings account.

Route 4-8 is William's route in Palm Desert which covers Shadow Mountain Drive, Village Drive, Santa Rosa Way, Carmel Circle,

Frank Bode Returns from Two-Year Tour of Bases

Frank Bode, a Palm Springs resident for over two years, has returned to the desert after a two months USO tour of Air Force Bases in Europe, North Africa, Labrador and Greenland.

Bode was born in Denmark, migrating to the states in 1947. In New York, he played with such bands as Benny Goodman and Harry James. He also played with Ray Anthony, Eddy Howard and Charlie Barnett, a resident of Palm Springs.

The 38-year-old drummer toured with the Claude Thornhill orchestra, playing at the Hotel Astor in New York City before returning to the desert.

Bode is presently playing with Vance Craig, pianist, at the Desert Air in La Quinta, but during the week records in Los Angeles and does free lance work.

The tour covered almost 15 bases in two months time, but Bode is back with his wife and two children in their San Joaquin Drive home.

Boston to Go To Group Meet

A. H. Boston, head of the Palm Springs Waste Disposal Department, has been appointed Palm Springs representative to the newly-formed Governmental Collection and Disposal Association and attended the group's meeting at West Covina.

Purpose of the organization, Boston said, is to provide interchange of information on disposal operations and to foster cooperation between city personnel and the public.

TV in Review

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The irrepressible Bob Hope scored two more firsts Wednesday night on NBC-TV: He managed to come up with a nonpartisan joke involving the Birch Society, and he publicly needed Frank Sinatra about a delicate personal matter.

In his spare time, he took on President Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy and U.S. Steel.

In his opening monologue, Hope noted that the top Oscar awards went to an Italian, Sophia Loren, and a Swiss, Maximilian Schell—and added:

"Yeah, We Need 'em"

"Where's the Birch Society when we really need 'em?"

Introducing Sinatra, Hope said the singer "comes to us from an engagement with practically everybody." A little later, in a fast exchange with Sinatra, he added: "Don't snarl at me. We're not engaged, you know."

Sinatra, who has developed into a masterful showman, teamed with Hope for the song-and-comedy highlights of the hour, which also featured former sarong girl Dorothy Lamour, who proved again she can't sing, as if it really ever mattered.

Hope's monologue had its usual ups and downs because of his shotgun rapid-fire technique. But he did manage to comment that when President Kennedy tossed out the first baseball of the season, he threw it at the president of U.S. Steel; and that the Atlantic Fleet anchor off Pittsburgh.

Also on hand was Janis Paige, who did an indifferent dance number but shared a good sketch with Hope about a television show based on "Romeo and Juliet." It began with an announcer saying, "As you remember, when we last saw Romeo and Juliet they had just finished taking the poison."

Sinatra, however, was the difference. In his exchange with Hope, he said Dean Martin would have won an Oscar for a recent Western but his horse got stoned. Hope, commenting on Sinatra's present round-the-world trip for underprivileged children, asked, "Are you gonna pick up Jackie's laundry?"

Overall, the show stood up better than any other Hope had this year.

They're Hot for Desert College

Students of 4 Continents Interested

By GENE JOHNSON

PALM DESERT — Interested students from four continents are peppering the new College of the Desert here with requests for information about enrollment.

Dr. Lawrence M. Frederick, chairman of the department of engineering and technology and counselor of students has disclosed that one application blank has already been accepted from a student in Iran, while requests for information have come from prospective students in British Columbia, Peru, France, Kenya and Tanganyika.

200 Enrolled

Over 200 students are already enrolled in the new junior college. Dr. Frederick reports, while the total of requests for information has passed the 300 mark.

Students already enrolled hail from all over the country. While the large majority come from high schools in the district, three have signed up from Illinois, three from Colorado, and single enrollees from New Jersey, New York, Washington, Ohio, and both Dakotas. Information requests have come in from most of the 50 states. Of those enrolled already, 32 are transfers from other colleges and universities.

How Found?

"We have no idea where these students find out about us," Dr. Frederick says, "but we are very pleased to be so well known already when we don't even have our campus constructed yet."

The counselor has also broken down the enrolling students according to major interests. Leading the list is the business major, while the "undecided" category is next followed by general liberal arts, social science and engineering.

One of the students recently enrolled has become a part of the College of the Desert already. She is Barbara Koenig, 20, of Palm Desert, who has taken a part time job in the busy temporary offices of the college 74-273 Highway 111 here.

Busy Office

Miss Koenig, who lives with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Z. C. Koenig, at 73331 Siesta Trail in Silver Spur Ranch, plans to become a teacher — and eventually hopes to return to teach at the college because she has "fallen in love with it."

Three full-time secretaries are kept busy in the offices keeping track of all the new enrollments and the many requests which come to the college. Miss Koenig is the first to take advantage of the part-time work program which the college will offer its students.

"I think the desert is the greatest place in the world," the pert Miss Koenig enthuses. "And the new college has a wonderful future. I'm so thrilled to be in on the start of it."

It's a Beauty

The young collegian, who will enter as a sophomore since she has already attended classes at Elmhurst College in Illinois and Purdue University in Indiana, visits the campus site under construction every chance she gets.

"It looks so Grecian," she says of the architecture at the campus. "And I'm sure it will be one of the most beautiful schools in the world."

The Koenig family have been desert residents since last June when they moved out from the Chicago area.

The family also includes a son, Roman, who is a junior at Indio High School. "He's a straight A student," Miss Koenig proudly reports, "and, of course, he's coming to College of the Desert."

Underground Fete

GRAND ST. BERNARD PASS Italy (UPI) — Swiss and Italian miners shook hands, cheered and drank wine toasts to each other recently when a dynamite charge blasted out the final link of a 3 mile tunnel under the Alps.

The Swiss and Italians had been working for 47 months from opposite sides of towering Mount Blanc before meeting deep inside. The $16 million tunnel when completed next year, will eliminate miles of winding, often-snow covered mountain roads from the Rome to Paris route.

END LONG MARRIAGE

CHICAGO (UPI) — Mrs. Ethel Kroc, 59, was granted a divorce here from her husband, Raymond, 59, millionaire head of the McDonald hamburger chain, which operates in 27 states.

Mrs. Kroc will receive the couple's $100,000 home, $30,000 a year alimony and a $50,000 insurance policy. They had been married 40 years.

PATTERNS of construction at the new College of the Desert in Palm Springs are caught in this camera angle of the new dining hall which is under construction at

Addean Boyd Funeral Rites Set on Saturday

DESERT HOT SPRINGS — Funeral services for Addean (Dean) Boyd, 48, of 66-201 5th St. here will be conducted at the Desert Mortuary here Saturday at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Boyd died Tuesday at the City of Hope. A native of Lone Oak, Tex., she had been a Californian for the past 25 years and a desert resident for 10.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Virginia Joyce in Ohio; three grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Joyce Gibson in Desert Hot Springs, Mrs. Ruby Lovett in Kansas, Mrs. Katherine Kennedy in Ada, Okla., and Mrs. June McKish of Covina; and one brother, Eddie Foster of Desert Hot Springs.

The Rev. Charles Harwood of the First Baptist Church here will officiate at the service, and interment will follow at Desert Memorial Park.

That Long Name Causing Trouble

FILLMORE (UPI)—Small towns with big names pose a real problem for pilots trying to identify the towns from the air.

The state Assembly passed a resolution asking cities to paint the name of their town on the roof of a building as an identification aid for pilot. But a survey in Fillmore showed there was no roof in town large enough to print the name in letters big enough to be seen by a pilot flying over.

National Guard In State Sets Arms Conversion

Friday, April 27, 1962
Palm Springs, California

The Desert Sun 11

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Army National Guard has announced plans to convert its remaining air defense artillery units to medium tank and self-propelled Howitzer battalions effective May 1. A Guard spokesman said the move was designed to place increased emphasis on armor and artillery fire support for the California divisions, the 40th Armored and the 48th Infantry. The conversion will involve three air defense artillery battalions in the Long Beach - San Diego area and another in Richmond. The guard said the conversion was being made now in preparation for forthcoming changes in organizational structure planned by the Department of Defense.

Outlook for Farms Same As Last One

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Agriculture Department said today the farm outlook for 1962 is about the same as last fall's forecast.

The outlook for farm income in 1962—published earlier this week—indicated farmers' realize net income this year will be around $12.7 billion, the same as last year and about $1 billion more than in 1960. Cash receipts from farm marketings probably will be larger, but higher production expenses probably will hold net income to the 1961 level.

Here is the 1962 situation by commodities, as seen by department economists writing in the Agricultural Outlook Digest:

Read meat production is expected to match the increase in population. Consumption per person will total about 161 pounds, the same as in 1961.

At the farm level, cattle prices may average slightly higher than in 1961, reflecting a stronger demand and only a small gain in marketings. Fed cattle prices into early summer will average above year-ago levels.

Hog prices are expected to average a little below last year because of increased marketings.

Gains are in view for sheep and lamb prices this year because of a prospective sizable cutback in slaughter.

Prices received by farmers for all milk at wholesale will be lower this year than in 1961, but not by the full drop in the support prices for manufacturing milk and butterfat. Milk production is expected to exceed last year's record 125.5 billion pounds, by possibly 2 billion pounds.

Spring egg prices are expected to be below 1961 levels due mainly to larger output. But some reduction in replacement hatch will strengthen seasonally rising prices next fall. Average prices this year may be somewhat under the 35.3 cents per dozen received by farmers in 1961.

Broiler outlook indicates some improvement from last year's record price low.

The Turkey situation points to sharp price improvement this fall from last year's extremely depressed prices.

PLAY DETROIT TONIGHT

Angels Drop 6 to 4 Decision to Cleveland on Pitchers Wildness

DETROIT (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels arrived here early today for their first meeting of the season with the Detroit Tigers, the club that gave them the most trouble last year. For the initial game, manager Bill Rigney tabbed Ken McBride, his top pitcher of 1961 who currently has a 1-2 record, as his starter for the Tigers, manager Bob Scheffing said he was starting Jim Bunning, 1-0.

Last year McBride accounted for half the Angel wins from Detroit with two victories over the Tigers. Detroit beat Los Angeles 14 times while dropping four games.

Bunning had the Tigers' best record against the Angels, recording four wins and no losses and he went on to score 17 victories for the season, topped only by Frank Lary's 23-win mark on the Detroit club.

The Angels close out their first home stand in Chavez Ravine stadium Thursday by dropping a 6-4 decision to the Cleveland Indians. The Angels won three games at home while losing six. The wildness of Los Angeles relief pitchers along with a great rescue job for the Indians by 19-year-old Sam McDowell was the story of the game.

In the seventh inning, Angel firemen Ryne Duren, Joe Nuxhall and Art Fowler gave up four walks between them and a pair of singles for three runs. Duren, who gave up the first two walks was charged with the defeat.

Except for that inning, Duren might have been the winning pitcher in relief of starter Eli Grba who worked three innings and gave up three runs on five hits.

McDowell, on the other hand, took over Cleveland starter Gary Bell in the third with the bases loaded and two away. He retired the side and then went on to retire 12 straight batters before he weakened and walked two men in the seventh. Barry Latman relieved him and finished out the game.

Although the Angels out-hit the Indians, 10-8, most of their base hits came early off Bell with Latman giving up only two singles to save McDowell's first major league win.

DEMARET TINKERS WITH CLUBS

Pro Golfers Gotta Have 'Feel' of Sticks

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jimmy Demaret has a set of golf clubs which look like they were barely saved from a smelter and therein lies a lesson for the average golfer as he gets ready to start the fairway season in earnest.

Demaret's sticks have been altered beyond recognition. Weight has been added in heel, toe or sole, welded on an buffed off until the numbers long since have been obliterated.

"I never get through tinkering with them," says jovial James, who at 54 still was good enough to team with Sam Snead and win the Canada Cup for Uncle Sam. "That's because I change all the time; not the clubs."

Which should give you an idea concerning your clubs as you grow older and stronger, or weaker, as the case may be. You are changing constantly and so must your weapons.

Arnold Seeks Putter

The pros realize this fully. Every one of them constantly is having new clubs made to specification. Maybe the face of a good is shaved back a fraction for additional loft; the heads weighted or the shafts changed. Arnold Palmer has been trying for months to get an "exact duplicate" of his favorite putter to "feel" just like the original.

"I added weight, then I shaved it off bit by bit," he frowned. "I just can't seem to get it right."

Palmer worries more about his putting than any other part of his fabulous game. He is known among the pros as a man who putts too boldly, usually stroking past the cup. But when they're dropping, it's Katy bar the door. So the importance of his putter and its "feel" is paramount to him.

The "feel" of your sticks makes a tremendous difference, too, whether you're a low handicap player or a hacker. Without this being a merchandising plug, you get that word straight from Spalding's John St. Clair, a club-making specialist for 34 years.

70,000 Special Orders

St. Clair heads a busy department which handles some 70,000 special orders each year. The touring pros on the staff such as Jay Hebert, Gene Littler, Jerry Barber and Paul Runyan are among his best customers but he also has turned out to specification sticks for such as President Eisenhower, Jim (Maverick) Garner and comedian George Gobel.

No matter what kind of clubs you prefer, St. Clair suggests that you go to a qualified professional to get "fitted."

"The shaft is the heart of the game," he explains. "So have a pro observe your swing, strength, size of hands, length of arms and general physical characteristics. They're all important. The pro will make certain you have the proper head weight, grip weight, shaft weight and length and swing weight."

Have you ever wondered why the faces of wood clubs are bulged and not those of the irons? "On the woods," says St. Clair, "the center of gravity is an inch to the rear of the center of the face and on the iron club approximately one-quarter of an inch to the rear of the center line of the shaft."

"When the ball is hit off center with wood, a gearing action takes place because of the bulge on the face, and this compensates for a toe hit or a heel hit," he adds. "It tends to throw it back into the intended direction of flight. By comparison, the flat face of an iron, being closer to the center of gravity, does not have the gearing effect which is obtained from the convex-faced wood."

"Understand? Me, I'll just take his word for the whole bit."

SPEEDS PRODUCTION

Paper Adds Machine

program of improvement for news coverage and speedier production is taking another step ahead. Installation work is under way today on a new G4 Intertype type setting machine that will add another family of type in six sizes to the new plant occupied just last January. Expected into production by late next week the new $30,000 monster pairs with a similar machine delivered last December in the production headline type and type for advertising copy.

It will signal the introduction of some new type faces that will give an added selection to advertisers and help to "brighten" the news columns of the newspaper.

Publisher Carl W. Schooss pointed out that delivery of the new machine is just another step in a modernization program launched nearly two years ago that has brought construction of a new building to house offices and production facilities of The Desert Sun and purchase and installation of a bigger press.

GARDENING IN THE DESERT

Desert Conditions Give Troubles to Gardeners

After the initial tiring chores are completed, debris removed from the sandy soil, some of the many plant foods mixed into the soil, plants chosen, shrubs and trees carefully planted and irrigation becomes periodical, the pleasure of watching them grow belongs to the amateur gardener who has put in many hours of garden work.

He has probably learned that very few of the plants etc., are indigenous to our desert. Much has been written about them since they were introduced into California around the beginning of 1700. Many of them have run into trouble and pushed into the background.

The Pepper Tree, under various other names such as Peruvian Mastic tree and Pea tree, is an example. It was native to South America and in Chili its bright red fruit was used as a substitute for pepper.

Watch The Paint

Introduced into California its rounded top and drooping branches were admitted for lawns and parks. When orange growers eventually discovered that scale insects from the Pepper Trees were ruining their oranges the Pepper Tree lost its charm and, in citrus districts, thousands of the culprits were destroyed. No doubt some of you, after leaving your car under a Pepper Tree too long, have found out what those peppers will do to your paint.

Hollyhocks, which are grown so profusely in California, were native in India. In Egypt they were cultivated for their leaves which are used in cooking. That was long ago so they may have found a substitute by now. The Geraniums we grow are not the original plant with that name they have been developed from various specimens of Pelargoniums introduced long ago from South Africa.

Native of India

Our Gladioli, member of the Iris family, were originally native to the Cape of Good Hope. Southern Europe was the first to furnish the world with Gladioli bulbs. Then our United States got into the game and for the last 60 years has furnished by far the greatest part of the supply. Incidentally we have also very much improved the species.

The Date Palm was first introduced in California by the Spanish padres. Their efforts to grow them from seed were very unsatisfactory. For four thousand years the fruit had been cultivated in Egypt years ago by Indians who used the El Dorado Palms area as a camping ground. This rendering is one of 20 for the new models which are scheduled for completion next fall.

Retirement 'New Look' At Thousand Palms Park

A "new look" in mobilehome living and retirement living will come to the California desert area with the construction of the new Mobilife Corp. development at Ramon Road and U.S. 99 to be known as Tri Palm Estates, near Thousand Palms.

The 2,000 site project is the fifth in a series of Mobilife Corp. "trailer estate" cities built since 1955. The company has three in Florida and one in Arizona.

Principal features of the company's special way of life are its emphasis on recreation facilities and its continuing management.

Similar to the Florida and Arizona communities, Tri Palm Estates will have a big central recreation area which will be built on the highest part of the tract. It will contain an auditorium-clubhouse, heated swimming pool for year-round use, shuffleboard courts, picnic grounds and parking facilities.

Despite the fact that the mobile-home lots will be sold rather than rented, Mobilife will have a continuing management staff. There will be a permanent manager, security officers, and maintenance men. A planned and continuing recreation program is a feature of communities developed by this publicly-owned company. There are covered dish dinners, and parties, hobby groups, shuffleboard tournaments, dances, movies and similar activities.

In approving the zone change for construction of this community, the Riverside Planning Commission emphasized that communities like Tri Palm Estates required maintenance and management. Mobilife was investigated and it was reported that "Mobilife was the one organization of its kind with such a record."

Immediately on the heels of county approval of the zoning, engineering field parties went to work this week to start the subdivision on the first step to reality.

SWIM FOR FUN is the watchword for users of this specially designed pool at Mobilife's park at Sarasota, Fla. This is similar to the facility planned at the new Tri Palm Estates near Thousand Palms where construction of a new trailer estate city is scheduled at an early date. Zoning for the park got the green light this week from the Riverside County Planning Commission.

Now It's OK to Land at Salton

RIVERSIDE — A permit to operate an aircraft landing strip along the shore of Salton Sea adjacent to North Shore Beach and Yacht Club was granted by the board of supervisors to North Shore Beach Estates as recommended by the county planning commission. "They've already dedicated it and started using it according to the newspapers," said Supervisor George Berkey. "They were a little bit overconfident!"

two and three bedrooms, one and two bathrooms.

Palm City Development Hailed Success in Retirement Concept

The success of the "active retirement" concept at Palm City is readily apparent, says developer Nels G. Severin.

Severin, a past president of the National Association of Home Builders, heads Marnel Development Co., builders of the 1800 home and apartment community near Palm Springs.

"Many of the first residents in Palm City say they now are having the time of their lives," Severin says.

"Through parties, potluck dinners and dances in the assembly hall, they have met people in their own age group, with similar interests and desires."

They keep active through such activities as learning to square dance, joining a bowling team, entering card tournaments, he added.

Residents can enjoy at any time the swimming pools, the therapeutic pool, horseshoes, shuffleboard, and television and reading lounge in the modern, air conditioned recreation center. A golf course is under construction and an arts and crafts building is planned.

"With the warm, dry desert climate, the nearby scenic spots, and the proximity to major cities, senior citizens are enjoying a truly new way of life," Severin declared.

Professionally decorated model homes, displaying two and three bedroom plans with one and two bathrooms, are open daily. Some plans have an extra "leisure room," the senior citizens equivalent to a family room. They have full carpeting and refrigerated air conditioning.

Kitchens have built-in electric range and oven, ample natural finish wood cabinets, garbage disposer and breakfast bar.

The homes, many of which have views of the golf courses and surrounding mountains, have patios and carports.

One member of each family must be 50 years of age or over to live in Palm City, Southern California's first established retirement community.

A completely self-contained community, Palm City has its own medical-dental building, neighborhood shopping center.

Investment Conference Scheduled

Creative real estate investment is the subject of an all-day educational conference to be held on Thursday, May 24, in Los Angeles at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, it was announced by Charles H. Brown, president of the California Real Estate Association.

The announcement stated that the Los Angeles Realty Board and the state association are co-sponsors of the all-day meeting which will be devoted completely to the subject of income property.

Brown said that the conference program will include discussion of the basic fundamentals of real estate syndication, "leverage" — the peculiar strength of cash in the purchase of real estate, tax advantages of income properties, ways to find suitable properties for investment and other factors Realtors need to know in order to act as entrepreneurs for small or large groups who wish to benefit from the distinct advantages inherent in real estate investment.

James Conn, president, said that the conference is being held as a result of many requests from Realtors and real estate investors for up-to-date information on current trends in real estate investment and the many laws and regulations affecting income property.

Chairman of the CREA Education Committee, Art S. Leitch announced that all of the speakers will base their talks on actual personal experiences and not on theories. He said that all of them are successful Realtors who may have started out listing and selling homes.

Dunes Club Area is A Bonanza

To a lot of folk hereabouts the desert is destiny. Many who have searched for bonanzas in its sands have been richly rewarded. This is particularly so in residential golf course communities that have sprung up fantastically in the desert area fathered by world renowned Palm Springs.

For example, where sagebrush thrived just three years ago, today golfers from all over the nation are relishing the joys of play on the beautiful Bermuda Dunes Country Club's 18-hole championship course.

A Bright Gem
A bright gem of the golfing community of Bermuda Dunes, located 15 miles east of Palm Springs off Highway 99, the dunes-studded link was designed by William F. Bell, one of America's top golf course architects.

Bermuda Dunes president, Ernie Dunlevie, who with Ray Ryan founded and operates the development, has announced that the cost of membership at the picturesque golf course has just been hiked to $2,700, in increase of $900 from the previous high. Cost of membership to property owners has likewise been boosted and now sells for $1200, a $480 increase.

In Third Year
Bermuda Dunes celebrated its third birthday with its second annual White Hunter's Party and Safari Tournament. The golf course community had much cause to celebrate. More than 1,000 homesites have been sold in the 7 units so far offered to the public.

IN GOOD SHAPE is one of the radios to be offered to schools and colleges in San Bernardino and Riverside counties, along with thousands of other electronic gadgets, displayed by Joedy Ingles. Joedy is employed at the Barstow Marine Corps Supply Center, where the items will be available at a penny per pound on May 5.

FRAME OF STEEL is erected for a three-unit business building at the corner of Highway 111 and San Pablo in Palm Desert. The estimated $60,000 land and building project will house a liquor store facing on Highway 111 and two other business units facing on San Pablo. The owner, Restaurant C. W. Wolfe of Indio, will operate the liquor store with Don Huntoon of Palm Desert, manager. It will be the most modern store in the valley, according to Rolfe, who reports it will be completed and open by the middle of July. Contractors are Meredith and Simpson of Indio. (Desert Sun Photo)

In the month of March alone $224,450 worth of property was sold by Sales Director Dave Bixler and his staff. Newest residents at Bermuda Dunes are the Fred Warings and the William Beedles, parents of Movie Actor William Holden. Both couples have purchased Bermuda Colonies homes on the golf course first fairway.

Bermuda Dunes is laid out on natural links. Despite its remoteness from the sea, it is strangely similar to the Cypress Point and Pebble Beach courses in its architecture and the beauty of its undulating contours.

Response from golfers to this magnificent addition to the booming golf facilities of the Palm Springs area was immediate. This is attested to by the major tournament play Bermuda Dunes has co-hosted, including the $100,000 Palm Springs Golf Classic and the U.S. Seniors National Open Golf Championship.

WAVING GRASS creates a green oasis north of East Ramon Road in the Outpost area, where blowing sand crushed through yard fences and across business parking lots last spring. The grass, planted by

Coachella Valley Water District has aided but not cured the sand problem, some residents reported. (Photo by Peyton Canary)

Grass Eases Sand Problem for East Palm Springs Area Homes

Grass carpets the desert 150 feet into houses. Climax to the sand problem came when a neighborhood action group organized to help the most severely threatened residents to dig from under the encroaching sand. The committee, headed by Bill Milner and Carl Lubin, began their rescue bucket brigade work at the Ray T. Craver residence, 31-547 Avenida La Gaviota, north of East Ramon Road.

Homeowners in the La Paloma and La Gaviota areas organized and sought legal counsel last year. Aided by Supervisor George Berkeley, the area residents presented their case to the Coachella Valley Water District, and asked aid in stopping and clearing the sand. The homeowners said the new Whitewater storm channel, broadened by the Coachella Valley Flood Control District in 1960, added to the problem because of the denuded loose sand.

In February, the water district dozed out sand filled yards, and planted grass.

"We have certainly appreciated what they've done, and we plan to work with them," Mrs. Bill Milner told The Desert Sun. The grass has not stopped sand movement in heavy wind, she added, explaining that sand within the west-facing rear yards had been gouged during the past week.

"There is now a dune about three feet high in our back yard, but apparently most of it was scooped out by the wind in the yard. After the water district cleared out the yards this spring, it was too early for Bermuda grass in the yard, and too late for anything else, so we have a problem now — but nothing like it was," she said.

Jack Meiselman, head of the firm handling the development, has had crushed stone and trees put in front yards, which has helped stem the sand problem, Mrs. Milner said.

SPACIOUS LIVING ROOM of a typical Bermuda Colonies fairway home, above, is part of a multi-million-dollar residential-recreational complex that Ray Ryan and Ernie Dunlevie, co-owners of Bermuda Dunes Country Club, have built on the first fairway of their picturesque golf course.

Homes at College to Open Soon

PALM DESERT — Comfort touches are emphasized in the 15 College Estate Homes scheduled for completion here May 15, Barbara Moss, builder-developer, reports.

The new project, six blocks from the College of the Desert on Parkview Drive, is planned for a total of 85 of the three and four bedroom houses, the builder announced.

A model home, furnished by Eriks of Rancho Mirage, features living room and family room display of transitional furnishings with Danish modern. The model has colored wall to wall carpeting.

Playground Open In Palm Desert

PALM DESERT — A $50,000 playground for use of residents of the exclusive Silver Spur Ranch estate area here is now open, according to Sol Lesser, president of Silver Spur properties.

Officially named "Recreation Gardens," the area includes parking area, putting green, horseshoe and shuffleboard courts, plus a patio area which faces a swimming pool with areas for both juvenile and adult swimmers.

SURVEYING MISSILE SITES

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is surveying locations for missile launching sites in the Hawaiian Islands, Alaska and Guam, according to the Air Force.

MODERN LUXURY is emphasized in the 'Contempo Homes' three and four bedroom houses now under construction in the College Estate Homes in Palm Desert. Builder Barbara Moss reported 'family livability' is the key of the planned 85 house project. Steele and Moss Enterprises is sales agent for the desert-keyed houses.

The College Estate houses have as executive director of the Long Beach Board of Realtors, and was 1961 vice president of the brokers institute of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. She has built apartments in Long Beach and homes in the La Quinta area.

Let's Save That Hour in October, Too

Palm Springs and the Desert Empire, along with the rest of California, will start saving daylight the day after tomorrow. At 2 a.m. Sunday, April 29, the time pieces in the state, except those in railroad offices and other transportation concerns doing an interstate business, will be moved up one hour.

Under present state law, daylight time will continue until the last Sunday in September which, in this case, is September 30.

But this is the last year we may be turning our watches and clocks back on that day.

On the June 5 primary ballot there is a proposition which, if endorsed by the voters of the state, will extend daylight saving until October 28, the last Sunday in that month.

If successful, Proposition Six on the primary ballot will provide six months of that extra hour of sun each afternoon.

Daylight time and the periods which it covers are up to the states. There is no national daylight time. There was in 1918 and 1919 during World War I and from 1942 until 1945 in World War II. Outside of that, daylight savings has been entirely an undertaking of the various states.

And they do not agree. This year 27 of the 50 states will save daylight and in some of them, just the big cities.

That's why daylight time in some sections is called a "twice-a-year confusion" as some cities, only a few miles apart, are an hour apart in time.

But that is also why voters in California should support Proposition Six in June.

With the four time zones in the nation, California is three hours later than New York and two hours later than Chicago, for eleven months of the year. But in October we are out-of-step with the business centers of the East and Mid-west. The time lag is four hours.

When you consider that time is an arbitrary thing and that only at the exact center of each time zone are we actually with the sun, the objections to daylight time seem rather vague. Less than 100 years ago every community had its own time, based on where the sun happened to be straight up. That was noon. One hundred miles away it was not. So an agreement was reached to bring all within a certain time zone in line and zig-zag lines were drawn on the map, designating zone limits. They were jagged lines to avoid splitting cities into two zones. There are 24 spots in the world where, when it is noon on one side of the line, it is only 11 a.m. on the other. But everyone knows what time it is.

Farm protests are also puzzling. They say the animals cannot read and thus refuse to observe daylight time. They still mark time by the sun. So, no matter where the hands are on the clock, the farmer gets up at the same time, Standard or Daylight. It doesn't affect his day unless he has an appointment to meet. And there are few appointments at dawn.

A Yes vote in Proposition Six June 5 will put us in step with the big centers with which we have the most frequent contact. A Yes vote will bring many benefits — more outdoor recreation, an extra hour of daylight during the driving-home traffic rush, more after-school sunshine for the youngsters.

Why object to losing one hour of sleep when we gain an hour of sunshine every day for six months? After all, we get that hour back on October 28.

Don't Invite the Burglars

Some years ago Chief A. G. Kettmann of the Palm Springs police department inaugurated a plan for greater protection of local homes temporarily unoccupied as the owners left the city for the summer, on vacation or to return to their homes elsewhere.

A resident, planning to be gone, simply fills out a form at the police station, listing where he can be reached in the event patrols, which periodically inspected the property, find anything amiss. That program has saved local residents much money and property in the intervening years.

Chief Kettmann reminded Villagers today that next week is Burglary Prevention Week, a good time to re-check practices which discourage prowlers while the house is vacant. Such as lights, securely locked windows and doors, closed garage doors, suspension of deliveries, anything which overlooked might indicate the house was unoccupied for a long period.

Signs of an empty house such as tightly drawn drapes, no light, open garage doors and a pile up of mail and newspapers, milk bottles on the porch, are all an invitation to burglars.

And notify the police when, where and how long you'll be.

And, by the way, the Humane Shelter has another reminder for you who are going away. Don't abandon your pets and leave them to shift for themselves when you go.

It may sound odd but many people do leave on vacation and forget all about their dogs and cats.

It is not only a callous and inhuman thing to do but it presents a problem to the society, police and others.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

This Filibuster to be Honest

WASHINGTON, D. C.—At the Senate's post-Easter filibuster on literacy tests now in progress, they are saying it will be the first "honest" battle in a decade or more.

They mean that previous filibusters, especially when Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson ran the Senate, amounted to being "fixed fights."

LBJ, consummate master of the Citadel, always managed, by cloakroom diplomacy, to ensure that both divisions of the Democratic party got the best of both worlds, without leaving any corpses on the Senate floor.

Southerners, that is, put up a filibuster fight which enabled them to go home and tell the voters, "Well, I tried." And Northern Democrats under LBJ would return to their folks with just enough gain in "civil rights" to mount the reelection rostrum in the guise of heroes.

Most Senate filibusters of recent years have gone off on a fairly stiff rehearsal schedule, except when some uncontrolled advocate like Thurmond (for the South) or Morse (for the North) ran amuck. But the filibuster, which looks as though it will be shaping up in the first week or so of May, should be unfixed and unrehearsed—yet not unpredictable.

It seems possible, for example, that we may have an honest reappraisal what Democracy really amounts to in our half-century. Democracy, like an alluring female, may be respectable—or otherwise. Much depends on the company she keeps.

To wit, the "democracy" which the Kennedy Administration is thrusting upon the Southern States by abolishing voting requirements, notably poll taxes and literacy tests, is by no means a desirable American achievement. If all the voting age Southerners of sixth grade mentality were given the unrestricted right to cast ballots, the scene would resemble a human auction comparable to ante-bellum disposal sales, or to the recent on-the-block transfer of persons-for-dollars in Cuba. The Kennedy Organization would be buying bodies (votes) in a far more callous fashion than was ever done in the old plantation days. Is that good for Democracy?

A lot of painful cogitation took place in the first half of the Senate session, during the discussion and debate on the United Nations bond issue. There was a principle of "Democracy" at stake here. Does electoral might make right? In the 104-member UN General Assembly, is it reasonable to assume that the vote of some African "rubber republic" is equal to that of the USA?

Contemplation of this searching query seems to have bothered a number of thoughtful Senators of the Liberal persuasion: That is why men like Jackson of Washington, Mansfield of Montana and Aiken of Vermont made such vague, cryptical addresses which criticized the UN but never quite condemned it—to the puzzlement of all. Many listeners who admired these Senators could not understand them. I asked Jackson what his speech was all about, and he said: "It's quite explicit." But, that's the joker it wasn't. It was equivocal.

educated, more advanced, more powerful in arms, more fortunate in riches, in all, more "responsible," than the loincloth tribes of the jungle. The same can be said of the elite population in Georgia, Mississippi and South Carolina as compared with the backward minority. If Jackson, Mansfield, Aiken and two dozen other Liberals are dubious about one-head-one-vote in the UN, why not the same skepticism about unconditional universal suffrage in the Old Confederacy?

There are other examples. You can say that "democracy" triumphed in British Guiana, where the pro-Red Cheddi Jagan and his Chicago-born wife, Janet, won a nose-count victory. The party of the ousted Dictator Perez, whose late wife Evita added sex appeal to their merry but disgraceful rule in Argentina, also recently won a popular win.

Here in the District of Columbia the President is foolishly lending his name to the project of Home Rule which, under raw democracy, means that the National Capital would end up with a City Hall ruled by a Negro population which makes the city streets perilous to after-dark pedestrians and parkers. Congress has recently brought in a corps of savage but law-abiding dogs to combat the lawless, sex-crazed, undisciplined hordes of human wolf-packs.

The truth seems to be that democracies, like monarchies and other rulerships, are sometimes good, sometimes bad government. If the Senate gives us a stop-and-think filibuster, maybe we ought to pay some close attention.

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

And once again comes PDT
So set your clocks ahead,
To be on time on Sunday
Morn,
And not a sloth in bed

A benevolent providence — and the boss — having so ordained, I do not make an appearance in print on Saturdays. So this reminder is a day early. We fool around with the hands of the clock again tomorrow night. Pacific Daylight Time takes over at 2 a.m. Sunday and they tell us to make the change upon crawling into bed on Saturday night so that we'll be on the beam next morning.

THE MAN in the Ivory Tower over there to the left undoubtedly will have some sage, or otherwise, comments on the joys of an extra hour of sunlight after checking out of work.

Well, leave him to his delusions. Lent is over and I now can be disagreeable again. It certainly is a relief.

DESPITE all of the words of wisdom and advice handed out annually at the beginning of Daylight Time, some people persist in fouling it up. They have been told a thousand times, more or less, that you must set your time pieces AHEAD one hour upon retiring night before the last Sunday morning in April.

About 49.9 per cent will set them back one hour.

THEN, WHEN they stretch, yawn and decide to get up Sunday, they'll be two hours off. They wake up, say, at 7 a.m. by the bedside clock and it's 8 a.m. PST and 9 a.m. PDT.

That's why radio, television, and transportation people call it "the semi-annual time of confusion."

They have to adjust and when half of the populace is out of step, they get the blame.

THAT EXTRA HOUR of sun in the p.m. is fine for those who like to keep that bronzed look. Daylight time first came into being a long time ago after a drought which dried up the lakes and streams and there wasn't enough water to turn generators to make electricity. So they added an hour of sunlight so people would put off turning on their lights.

They forgot that a lot of people had to turn them on an hour earlier in the morning.

THEN, DURING World War II, we had it the year around so people could work in their Victory Gardens and raise their own tomatoes, potatoes, squash or what do you like?

Most people, however, just shucked their clothes, put on trunks and lounged around the pool. The bugs grew fat and sassy on the vegetables.

AND NOW they are planning to extend Daylight time another month, through October. That'll be fine for the clerks in, and patrons of, the local brokerage offices. The New York markets will open only three hours ahead of us instead of four as in past Octobers. Give them all an extra hour of sleep and they won't have to run to make the Daily Double.

But, gosh, it's going to be dark at 6 a.m. PDT in October!

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law says I'm two-faced because I am nice to my mother-in-law's face but actually I can't stand some of her ways. She is a very gossipy woman. I love my husband and don't want to get on the outs with his mother by telling her to her face what I think of her. Am I being two-faced? —THE QUIET TYPE

DEAR QUIET: Let's say you are being civilized, diplomatic and very, very tactful. It's wise not to tell your mother-in-law what you think of her. Just be sure you don't tell anyone else.

DEAR ABBY: You helped me out by telling me about this Home for Unwed Mothers. I am here now and can't thank you enough for sending me here. My problem now is, should I keep my baby or should I give it up for adoption? I am terribly confused. At first, I made up my mind to keep my baby. Then I wrote to a priest whom I have known a long time and he strongly urged me to give my baby up for the baby's sake. I am undecided again. I am 17. The baby's father is married. —UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: The decision should be "yours" and "yours" alone. Ask yourself two questions: (1) What will be best for my baby? (2) What will be best for me? God bless you. I know you will make the right decision.

DEAR ABBY: I was visiting my friend yesterday and her dog started to pull on my baby's blanket. I said to her, "Look what your dog is doing!" She replied, "Please do not refer to him as a 'dog'—his name is Lancelot!"

I was so burned up I couldn't think of an answer.

What should I have said? —BOSTONIAN

DEAR BOSTONIAN: You should have said, "Tell 'Lancelot' to cut it out or his name will be 'mud'!"

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to the lad who complained because his mother and grandparents always spoke Italian in front of him, took me back about 50 years when I was a small boy. Only mine were forever talking Swedish. When I asked my mother to teach me Swedish, she replied, "You already know too much in English. The reason we speak Swedish is so you won't understand what it is we are saying." —NEVER LEARNED

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the girl who changed her name from Annie to Audrey. I don't blame her at all. I recently read a book about the Barbary Coast and there were four Annes in it. Dirty Anne, Wagon Spoke Annie, Box Car Annie and Glass Eye Annie.

My name is Anna, and I have been called everything from Orphan Annie to Tugboat Annie. There ought to be a law against authors maligning people named Anna. Sign me—ANNETTE (now)

DEAR ABBY: My heart doesn't yearn for wall-to-wall carpeting and fancy clothes, but oh, Abby, how I would love to have my husband bring home some foolish little gift on some unspacial day. He's not a thoughtful guy, but when you have to "hint" it's no fun. He's a grand guy and a wonderful husband, and if he'd only do this little thing to let me know I am as special to him as he is to me, I'd be the happiest woman in the world. —SWEET SUE

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school teacher. I recently picked up a note written by one of our students. Here is an excerpt from it:

"Hi, Sue:
Yesterday Donna and I skipped school. We went to her house and watched television. Her mother works which makes it nice. When I went home at 4 o'clock Mom told me the school had called to see if I was home. Lucky for me she said I was home sick."

A child broke the rules and her mother lied to protect her. This prevailing attitude is very discouraging. What is happening to the integrity of people today? —WORRIED TEACHER

DEAR WORRIED: The integrity of some people has not changed. Mothers who lie to protect their children have always been with us. And always will be. But I believe this is the exception—not the rule. Most mothers would have told the truth and let the child face the music.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

BOB CONSIDINE:

Much Ticker Tape But No Chiang Kai-Shek

NEW YORK.—People . . . Places . . . Things . . . Madame Wellington Koo, wife of one of the great men of Chinese diplomacy, Pre-Mao, asks us a question we cannot answer: "Why is it that every Tom, Dick and Harry among the leaders of the new Nations gets a white house reception and a Ticker-tape parade up Broadway — and the best ally you have in the Pacific, Chiang Kai-Shek, is never invited? Who has been blocking that invitation through the years?"

Ralph Bunche, UN Undersecretary, excused himself just before a luncheon given by U Thant in the Secretary-General's suite atop the Secretariat building the other day. He had a call in for Leopoldville.

He returned midway through the urbane meal and whispered earnestly to the Secretary General. The latter clucked his tongue impatiently. "Anything wrong?" a luncheon guest asked. "Can't get through to see what's happening to Tshombe," Bunche said. "Line's busy."

"Maybe he's talking to his girl," the guest suggested. "Maybe he's being held behind a road block," the Undersecretary muttered. "Incredibly, Tshombe more or less was in that predicament. Congo government troops made him their virtual prisoner for 24 hours, though the UN had guaranteed him safe passage to and from his talks with Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula. Working through the rest of the day, Bunche sprung him."

The dear ladies of the D.A.R., descendants of revolutionaries so rough and tough they were able to throw his Majesty George III and all his Hessians off America's back, have concluded another annual convention in Washington deploring the kind of progressive action which made their forebears famous.

They adopted resolutions calling for the U.S. to quit UN and NATO. They're opposed to all efforts to help things in Latin America through the Alliance for Progress program. They're bitter about "Socialistic farm proposals," and a lot of other things. But they gave Maj. Arch B. Roberts a standing ovation when he repeated an old and thoroughly discredited charge of communistic leanings against Mayor Sam Yorty of Los Angeles. The Army promptly and properly benched the major — who would have been challenged to a duel by any of the ancestors of the applauding D.A.R.'s.

Jules C. Stein, Chairman of the Music Corporation of America is, among other things, an authority on ophthalmology. Speaking as Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Research to Prevent Blindness, Inc., he recently brought forth some alarming statistics:

At last count, some 365,000 Americans were classified as legally (totally) blind. About 1,000,000 non-institutionalized persons are so blinded they cannot read ordinary newspaper, even with the aid of glasses. Another 1,500,000 have sight in only one eye, 9,000,000 U.S. children require some form of eye care, a whopping 40 per cent of the entire population has eye defects.

"To care for this vast area of affliction," he said, "total funds for eye research are alarmingly small—approximately $6,000,000 in 1960, of which all but about $300,000 came from government sources. Research money is about one-sixteenth of what is spent in public funds alone on care for those already blind.

"More money is spent in America today on eyewash than on eye research."

Friends of ours went to a dinner given by an oriental friend whose apartment is known for its fine 17th century Chinese prints. The host is something of a wit.

"Did he feed you a thousand year old egg?" our friend was asked later.

"No," he said, "but he told us two 500-year-old jokes."

DeGaulle Faces Final Death Decision

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

It is a quirk of history that President Charles de Gaulle is being called upon for the second time to pass upon a sentence of life or death for a great French national hero.

It was at 4:15 on the morning of Aug. 15, 1945, that a jury in Paris returned a verdict of death against Marshal Henri-Philippe Petain, hero of Verdun in World War I, Nazi collaborator in the Vichy French government of World War II.

Then, as he must now in the case of Gen. Raoul Salan, it fell to De Gaulle to make the final decision.

It was near the end of De Gaulle's first term as the first Republic.

He commuted the aged Petain's sentence to life imprisonment.

Died in Prison

Petaim lived with his disgrace for two years, finally dying at the age of 91 on his prison Island of Yeu off the French Atlantic Coast.

The parallel does not end with Petain.

Petaim served the Vichy government as chief of state. Under him as premier was Pierre Laval. It was upon Laval that the chief blame fell for the crimes against Free France and he also received a death sentence.

De Gaulle refused to intervene and Laval died before a firing squad at Fresnes Prison Oct. 15, 1945.

The firing squad or the guillotine also awaits Salan and his second in command in the outlawed OAS, Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, who was captured a month ago in Oran.

Jouhaud already has been tried and his sentence passed on to De Gaulle for review.

Salan, sentenced to death once in absentia, now will be tried again in person, with the verdict a seemingly foregone conclusion.

There is special tragedy in the case of Salan.

Served France Well

Before he turned to the OAS and its assorted atrocities against Moslem and European alike, he was entitled to wear more decorations than any other officer in France. He had served as De Gaulle's emissary in Algeria and he had served France as a soldier at home, in Africa and in the Far East.

As Petain before him, he will plead that he acted for the good of France.

This, and not the glory of the battlefield, is Salan's moment of truth.

And from grim Sante Prison already is emerging the picture of a man anxious to disavow himself of the blood of the innocent, realizing too late that his was not the guiding hand of destiny but rather its victim.

THRILLS APLENTY will be provided in Riverside May 5-6 when the Rancheros Rodeo goes into action. It's expected to draw a big throng of enthusiasts from the desert area—headed by Palm Springs Mayor Frank Bogert.

ANAHEIM (UPI)—President Kennedy's proposal for total disarmament has caused the conservative movement to grow stronger, according to Loyd Wright, candidate for the Republican nomination for U.S. senator.

Wright, speaking to North Orange County Young Republicans asserted that the conservatives have protested "all along against the drift toward one-world government and the relinquishing of our right to determine our own future."

He said Kennedy's proposal for a permanent United Nations armed force shows how the "Fabian socialists and one-world bubble blowers can charm and bamboozle a young and ambitious President."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Space scientist Donald J. Ritchie did a double-take recently when he read an article on the development of Soviet Aircraft engines in the Russian technical journal Krijdla Vlasti.

Ritchie, a Bendix Corp. scientist and a leading U. S. expert on Soviet space technology, recognized the Russian article as having been lifted almost totally from one he had written in 1959. It appeared in the U.S. trade journal Aero Space Engineering. Did the Russians credit their source or include Ritchie's references to Soviet engines having their origin in British or German designs?
